Who We Are

ClearBridge Advisors is a multi-strategy asset management company that provides institutional and individual investors with a variety of equity products designed to meet long-term goals. ClearBridge is a subsidiary of Legg Mason, Inc., introduced in 2005, following the acquisition of Citigroup Asset Management. ClearBridge's mission is to deliver consistently superior investment performance. At ClearBridge, experienced portfolio managers with extensive track records work alongside research analysts and traders to provide a range of investment offerings that are focused on long-term performance.

Focused on the Future – Strengthened by our Past

ClearBridge traces its asset management strengths back to a number of well-established asset management firms that made meaningful contributions to our recent culture and investment philosophy.

Today, ClearBridge also benefits from the formidable strength of the Legg Mason organization, while continuing to operate with investment independence — maintaining our own investment strategies, philosophies, and investment decision-making authority.

Proprietary Research is at the Heart of our Investment Process

The cornerstone of our investment approach is our proprietary fundamental research and analysis, conducted by sector specific and portfolio analysts working in partnership with experienced portfolio managers located in both New York and San Francisco. Our research team serves as a crucial shared resource, helping portfolio managers to both find potential new investments and to conduct constant surveillance of their current portfolio holdings.
